

Hakomi Forum

Issue 28–29

Table of Contents

Editorial: Many Members of One Body	3
Greg Johanson
Merleau-Ponty, Bodily Knowledge and Felt Meaning	7
Steven L. Bindeman
Complexes of the Cultural Unconscious: Trance States, Hakomi, and the Re-Creation of the Self	15
Camillia M. Thompson
Should We Tell? Living a Good Life in the Shadow of Cancer: A Personal Reflection	25
Belinda Siew Luan Khong
Using Hakomi to Mediate Cultural Differences	43
Sarah Tait-Jamieson
Applications of Hakomi Mindfulness-Centered Somatic Psychotherapy in a Non-Profit Setting	49
Rebecca Lincoln
Hakomi and the Underserved	55
Vivianne Shands, Kamal Ahmed, Christina Toro, and Micah Anderson
The M.E.T.A. Counseling Clinic: Hakomi-Infused, Mission-Driven, Affordable	67
Donna Roy
Reviewing the Work of Stephen Jenkinson	73
Susan Shawn
Book Review: Understanding Emotion in Chinese Culture: Thinking Through Psychology	77
Greg Johanson
Poems: Sinixt People and Absolute Attention is Prayer	81
Carol Ladas-Gaskin
Back Pages
Glossary of Hakomi Therapy Terms	83
About the Hakomi Method and Ron Kurtz, the Founder	87
Hakomi-related Books	89